

Plumbago Books and Arts
P.O. Box 27832, London SE24 9YG

plumbago@btinternet.com
www.plumbago.co.uk

distributed by Boydell & Brewer Ltd.
P.O. Box 9, Woodbridge, Suffolk IP12 3DF

trading@boydell.co.uk
www.boydell.co.uk

Christopher Wintle (1945-), All the Gods: Benjamin Britten's 'Night-Piece' in Context
Poetics of Music: General Editor: Christopher Wintle
Editor: Julian Littlewood (1975-)

© Christopher Wintle (text), Julian Littlewood (design), 2006

Set in Adobe Jenson Pro (text) and Helsinki (music) by Headington dtp Services

Logo by Mary Fedden RA, OBE © Plumbago Books and Arts 2001

First published 2006

A CIP catalogue record for this publication is available from the British Library

ISBN 0-9540123-6-4

Printed by Biddles Ltd., King's Lynn PE30 4LS

Contents

Introduction	ix
Part One: Documents
I. The First Leeds International Pianoforte Competition	3
II. The Three Versions of the Musical Text	6
Part Two: Scores
Version A. 'Notturmo', Original Version (Manuscript) and Transcription	26
Version B. 'Night-piece', Second Manuscript Version (left)	36
Version C. 'Night-piece', Printed Version (right)	37
Part Three: Theory and Analysis
I. Theory: The Modes	57
II. Analysis	64
Part Four: Ideas
I. Tradition, Devotion, Creativity and Idea	79
II. Idea as Form	82
III. Idea as Steigerung (Intensification)	89
IV. Idea as Neapolitan Complex	94
Appendices
I. On Intensification ('Was ist Steigerung ')	101
II. On the Neapolitan Complex ('The Sceptred Pall: Brahms's Progressive Harmony')	111